Special plea necessary.—DeArman v. State, 77 Ala. 10; Burton v. State, Ala. (22 So. 585). Not improper for solicitor to explain effect of plea.—McQueen v. State, 103 Ala. 12.

Adopted June 21, 1889.

32. Severance in criminal cases.—Where two or more persons, charged with a capital offense, are jointly indicted, either of them is entitled to demand a severance; but such right shall be considered as waived, unless claimed at or before the time of arraignment, or, at latest, when the court, at any term, sets a day for the trial of the case, and makes an order to summon a special venire. In other than capital offenses, a severance may be demanded at any time before the case regularly goes to the jury.

After one severance allowed two defendants, another motion is addressed to the court's discretion.—Malachi v. State, 89 Ala. 134. If no demand for separate trial, whether trial shall be joint or several rests in court's discretion.—Jackson v. State, 104 Ala. 1; Wright v. State, 108 Ala. 60; Wilkins v. State, 112 Ala. 55. When some defendants plead not guilty and another pleads guilty, this operates a severance as to the latter.—Calloway v. State, 103 Ala. 27; Woodley v. State, 103 Ala. 23; Yarbrough v. State, 105 Ala. 43. Severance by reason of adjudged insanity of one defendant.—Marler v. State, 67 Ala. 55.

33. Bills of exceptions; how framed.—Bills of exceptions taken in trials before a jury shall not contain a statement of the testimony, nor of any portion thereof, in extenso, except in one of the following cases: Adopted June 28, 1890.

1. When the general charge is asked in good faith, to be judged of by this court.

2. When the inquiry questions the legality or pertinency of a question to a witness, or his answer; in which case, enough of the testimony, or the tendencies of the testimony, may be stated, to show the legality or pertinency of the question or answer, or to show the contrary.

3. When a charge is asked and refused, the tendency of the testimony may be stated to an extent sufficient to show the charge is not abstract.

4. In all cases, when necessary to a proper understanding of the question sought to be raised by a charge given or refused, there may be stated, either that there was no testimony as to any given point or points, or enough of the testimony, or its tendencies, may be stated, as the case may be, to make it appear to this court, that the charge does or does not ignore the bearing of any conflicting or qualifying testimony, or does or does not tend to mislead, and is or is not a proper charge to be given in the case on trial; and this rule shall apply, whether the question raised be one of general application, or of special application, to the facts of the case before the court.

5. In no case shall the bill of exceptions contain that which is a mere repetition of what has already been stated. The substance or tendency of any additional testimony given by another witness may be stated, when necessary; and it is no violation of this rule, if the names and number of witnesses who testify to a given statement of fact, or tendency of testimony, be stated, if deemed material.

Any bill of exceptions brought before us which violates any of the regulations stated in the foregoing rule, shall subject the party reserving the exception to a penalty, not exceeding the whole cost of the appeal, at the discretion of this court; and, in addition, this court reserves the power to disallow such paper as not a bill of exceptions, and as no part of the record.

Adopted April 13, 1891.

34. Exceptions to rulings on the introduction of testimony; how to be reserved.—When, in the progress of the trial of any cause in a court of original jurisdiction, objection and exception are reserved to the introduction of testimony that is not patently illegal, or irrelevant, such exception will not be considered an error, unless the record shows that the grounds of objection were specified. In all cases, the presiding judge, before ruling on any objection to testimony, may call on counsel to specify the grounds on which it is rested; and the appellate court, in revising such decision, must consider only the grounds of objection which are shown to have been clearly specified.

General objection may be overruled.—Bates v. Morris, 101 Ala. 282; Montgomery F. Co. v. Hardaway, 104 Ala. 100; Loeb v. Huddleston, 105 Ala. 257; Washington v. State, 106 Ala. 58; Miller v. State, 107 Ala. 40; Williams v. Gallyon, 107 Ala. 439; L. & N. R. Co. v. Binion, 107 Ala. 645; Larkin v. Baty, 111 Ala. 303. A specification of objections waives all others.—McDaniel v. State, 97 Ala. 14; Steiner v. Tranum, 98 Ala. 319; Ellis v. State, 105 Ala. 72; A. G. S. R. Co. v. Bailey, 112 Ala. 167.

RULES OF CHANCERY PRACTICE.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

1. Court always open for certain purposes; notice of hearing appeals from register.—The courts of chancery shall be deemed always open for the purpose of filing bills, answers, and other pleadings, for issuing and returning original and mesne process and commissions by the register; and for making by and before the chancellor all interlocutory motions, orders, decrees, and other proceedings not affecting the merits of causes, but preparatory to their hearing upon the merits; and, also, for carrying into execution the decrees and orders of such chancery courts and chancellors. This rule includes the hearing of appeals from the register; which motions and appeals can be heard in vacation, at any time or place (within the state), upon ten days' notice of the time and place of making the same, and the decree or order made and forwarded to the register from that or any other place.

Chancellor in vacation may confirm report of sale.—Ex parte Branch, 63 Ala. 383.

2. Powers of register in vacation; appeal to chancellor, how certified.—Registers in chancery, during the vacation of their respective courts, may make and direct all such interlocutory orders, decrees, and other proceedings not affecting the merits, nor extending to the decision of demurrers, or testing the equity of the bill, the granting or dissolving of injunctions, or the setting aside of writs of ne exeat, or equitable attachments, or to any other order which is required by statute to be made by the chancellor in court, but preparatory to the hearing of all causes upon their merits. Such orders and decrees shall have the same effect as if made by the chancellor; subject, however, in all cases, to the control of the latter, by appeal, to be heard and decided by him, either in vacation or term time. When an appeal shall be taken from the register to the chancellor or court, he shall certify the appeal in the nature of a report.

3. Register keeps book; solicitor draws up application, which is transcribed with indorsement.—The register shall keep a book, in which shall be entered all decrees and orders taken before him. The solicitor of the party applying to the register for any decree or order shall draw the same out with care, describing the cause, the date of the application, and the notice given to the adverse party. If such decree or order shall be granted, the register shall indorse thereon "granted," and date and sign the same, and cause the said order, application and grant to be transcribed on said book; which book shall be one of record of his office.

4. When register grants orders.—Decrees and orders may be applied for before the register every Monday. This rule shall not apply to orders for the issuing of writs of ne exeat and equitable attachments, and for the sale of personal property levied on, in granting which registers shall not be restricted to Mondays. If the register should not get through with the business before him on any rule-day, he may continue his sittings from day to day until such business is disposed of. As amended Dec. 9, 1890.

5. Notice, when necessary.—No notice shall be necessary to obtain an order of publication against a defendant, a decree pro confesso, an order appointing a guardian ad litem, an attachment against the body or effects, a writ of sequestration, or to examine as a witness a party defendant, subject to all legal exceptions; but in all other cases, not otherwise directed by statute, or in these rules, decrees and orders shall only be made by the register upon five days' notice to the adverse party; which notice must be in writing, and must set forth the nature of the decree or order applied for, a copy of which shall be filed with the register.

6. The register being interested, special register acts.—In all cases when the register is interested or related to the parties within the fourth degree of consanguinity or affinity, it shall be the duty of the chancellor, on the motion of either party, to appoint a special register, who shall perform all the duties, and have all the powers and jurisdiction in the cause which are devolved by law upon the register. The general register shall, however, issue process, make the records, and keep the files, unless otherwise ordered by the court. As amended Dec. 11, 1882.

7. Rules of English chancery.—In all cases where the statutes of this state, the decisions of this court, or the rules prescribed by it, do not apply, the practice in chancery shall be regulated by the rules, orders, and practice of the English court of chancery (prior to and including those of May, 1845, but not afterwards), so far as the same may reasonably be applied, consistently with the institutions of this country, not as positive rules, but as furnishing proper analogies to regulate the practice.

This rule cited.—Dixon v. Higgins, 82 Ala. 284. English rules not peremptory, only advisory, furnishing analogies.—Goodrich v. Goodrich, 44 Ala. 670; Childress v. Harrison, 47 Ala. 556.

8. Stating part, divided and numbered.—The stating part of all bills must be divided into sections, and numbered consecutively, 1, 2, etc.

9. Interrogatories, divided and numbered.—The interrogatories contained in the interrogating part of such bill shall be divided from each other as conveniently as may be, and numbered consecutively, 1, 2, 3, etc.

McKenzie v. Baldridge, 49 Ala. 564.

10. Containing blanks, defective.—Bills which contain blanks shall be considered defective, and may be ordered to be taken off the file.

Blanks, unless relating to matter of substance, not cause of demurrer, McKenzie v. Baldridge, 49 Ala. 564.

11. Complainant prescribes matters to be answered by note. The complainant shall make a note in writing, at the bottom of the bill, as to the particular statements or interrogatories, by number, which he desires each defendant to answer; and the answer need not go beyond such requisition, except for such defendant's own protection.

What sufficient compliance with rule.—McKenzie v. Baldridge, 49 Ala. 564; Paige v. Broadfoot, 100 Ala. 610. When foot-note unnecessary in case of amendment.—Ala. Warehouse Co. v. Jones, 62 Ala. 550; Werborn v. Austin, 82 Ala. 498; Ladd v. Smith, 107 Ala. 506; Prestwood v. Fertilizer Co., Ala. (22 So. 77). Omission of foot-note matter of substance.—Sprague v. Tyson, 44 Ala. 338; Winter v. Quarles, 43 Ala. 692; O'Neal v. Robinson, 45 Ala. 526. The omission curable by amendment.—Martin v. Hewitt, 44 Ala. 418; Ala. Warehouse Co. v. Jones, 62 Ala. 550. Oath to answer usually waived in foot-note.—Russell v. Garrett, 75 Ala. 348.

12. Foot-note specifying matters to be answered, part of bill. The note at the foot of such bill, specifying the statement or interrogatories which each defendant is required to answer, shall be considered and treated as part of the bill; and the addition of any such note to such bill, or any alteration in, or addition to such note, after the bill is filed, shall be treated as an amendment to the bill.

13. Form of interrogating part.—Instead of the words heretofore in use, preceding the interrogating part of the bill, and beginning with the words "To the end, therefore," such interrogating part in such bills shall be to the effect following: "To the end, therefore, that the said defendants may show why your orator should not have the relief hereby prayed, and may, upon their respective oaths, and according to the best and utmost of their knowledge, remembrance, information and belief, respectively, full, true, direct and perfect answer make to such of the statements, or the several interrogatories hereinafter numbered and set forth, as by the note hereunder written they are respectively required to answer—that is to say: 1. Whether, etc. 2. Whether, etc."

Rule not applicable to bills containing no interrogating part.—Thornton v. S. & B. R. Co., 84 Ala. 109. Answer under oath may be waived in interrogating part of bill.—Russell v. Garrett, 75 Ala. 348. When bill may not be amended as matter of right by adding interrogatories required to be sworn to.—McCaw v. Barker, Ala. (22 So. 131).

14. Bill, etc., how signed.—All bills and petitions shall be signed by a solicitor of the court, except where a party prosecutes in his own proper person; and then it shall be signed by such complainant or petitioner; and where there is a note at the foot of the bill, as directed under the foregoing rules, the same shall be signed in like manner.

15 (16). Bills, how sworn to.—In all injunction and other bills and petitions required to be sworn to, the oath or affirmation may be administered and certified by any of the officers thereto authorized by law. A bill may be sworn to by an agent or attorney, but the affidavit must set forth a sufficient reason why it is not verified by the complainant himself.

16 (17). Exhibits part of bill, and admissions of them dispenses with proof.—The copies of all documents appended as exhibits to bills, petitions and answers shall be deemed and taken and held as parts of bills, petitions and answers; and the admission of such exhibits in the answer dispenses with proof thereof.

Minter v. Bank, 23 Ala. 762; Wynn v. Rosette, 66 Ala. 517; Dawson v. Burrus, 73 Ala. 111; Baker v. Young, 90 Ala. 426.

17 (18). Prayer, requisites of.—The prayer for process or publication to answer a bill shall contain the names of all the defendants. If an injunction, ne exeat, or any other special order, is asked for in the prayer for relief, that shall be sufficient, without repeating the same in the prayer for process.

The prayer an essential part of bill.—Driver v. Fortner, 5 Port. 9. Prayer for process necessary.—McDonald v. McMahon, 66 Ala. 115. What sufficient prayer for process.—McKenzie v. Baldridge, 49 Ala. 564.

18 (19). Non-resident or insolvent parties may be dispensed with.—In all cases where it shall appear to the court that persons, who might otherwise be deemed necessary or proper parties to the suit, reside out of the jurisdiction of the court, or are insolvent, the court may, in its discretion, proceed in the cause without making such persons parties; and in such cases, the decree shall be without prejudice to the rights of the absent parties.

19 (20). When parties are numerous, court may proceed, having before it parties to represent adverse interests.—When the parties on either side are very numerous, and cannot, without manifest inconvenience and oppressive delays in the suit, be all brought before it, the court, in its discretion, may dispense with the making of all of them parties, and may proceed in the suit, having sufficient parties before it to represent all the adverse interests of the plaintiff and the defendant in the suit. But in such cases the decree shall be without prejudice to the rights and claims of the absent parties.

Morton v. N. O. & S. Ry. Co., 79 Ala. 590, 610; State el rel Sanche v. Webb, 97 Ala. 111; Lebeck v. Bank, Ala. (22 So. 75).

20 (23). Infants, how served.—Summons to answer bills issuing against infants may be served upon their parents, or either of them, if in life, or, in case they are dead, upon the general guardian of such infant; Provided, such parent or guardian has not an interest adverse to such infant. When there is no parent or guardian, or the interest is adverse to the infant, if the infant is over fourteen years of age, then the service shall be upon such infant personally; and if the infant is under the age of fourteen, then the summons must be served upon such person as may have the maintenance or charge of such infant, unless opposed in interest. And should there be any case not provided for by statute, or by this or some other rule, and proof be made before the chancellor or register, he may direct the mode of service, or appoint a guardian ad litem for such infant without service.

To support a decree against infant defendants, when assailed on error, record must disclose compliance with rule.—Levystein v. O'Bryan, 106 Ala. 352; Woods v. Transportation Co., 107 Ala. 364; Wells v. Mortgage Co., 109 Ala. 430; Estes v. Bridgeforth, Ala. (21 So. 512). See also Hodges v. Wise, 16 Ala. 509; Coster v. Bank, 24 Ala. 37; Bondurant v. Sibley, 37 Ala. 565; Carter v. Ingraham, 43 Ala. 78; Rhett v. Mastin, 43 Ala. 86; Irwin v. Irwin, 57 Ala. 614; Rowland v. Jones, 62 Ala. 322; McIntosh v. Atkinson, 63 Ala. 241; Cook v. Rogers, 64 Ala. 406; McCall v. McCurdy, 69 Ala. 65; Hibbler v. Sprowl, 71 Ala. 50; Gayle v. Johnston, 80 Ala. 395; Herring v. Ricketts, 101 Ala. 340.

21 (24). Corporation, service of.—Domestic corporations may be served with process by executing it upon the president, or other head thereof, secretary, cashier, or managing agent thereof. If affidavit is made that the officers named in the preceding part of this rule are unknown, absent from, or reside out of the state, the process may be served upon any white person in the employ of such corporation, or doing business for it. Process may be served on foreign corporations by executing it upon any agent of such corporation, or white person in its employ in this state, or by publication, a copy of which may be sent to any of the officers named in the first part of this rule. If a summons to answer a bill is personally served on the agent or person in the employ of such foreign corporation, such agent or employe may be required to answer on oath, as in case of other defendants to bills, and under like penalties.

To bills of discovery against corporation, officers necessary parties.—V. & A. M. & M. Co. v. Hale, 93 Ala. 542; LeGrand v. McKenzie, 110 Ala. 493. For rules of law as to service of corporations, see citations to section 3274 of this Code.

22 (25). Service of non-residents.—Where a defendant is shown by affidavit of the complainant or his agent, appended to the bill, or otherwise, to be, in the belief of such affiant, either a non-resident, or that his residence is unknown, or, if a resident, that he has been absent from the state more than six months from the filing of the bill, or that he conceals himself so that process cannot be served upon him; and such affidavit further states the belief of the affiant as to the age of the defendant, being over or under twenty-one years, or, if the residence and age of the defendant are unknown to the person making the affidavit, states that they are unknown, or, if the bill sets forth the facts required to be stated in said affidavits, and is sworn to, it shall be the duty of the register, in vacation, or chancellor, in term time, to make an order against such defendant, requiring him to answer or demur to said bill before a day to be therein named, not less than thirty days, nor more than fifty days from the making thereof. The register shall have all orders of publication against defendants, whether made by the chancellor or himself, published, with as little delay as may be, in such newspaper as may be designated in the order, once a week for four consecutive weeks; a copy of which order he must post up at the door of the court-house of the county, or other place where the court sits, and shall send by mail another copy thereof to the defendant, where his residence is shown by the bill or affidavit, as aforesaid; which copies shall be posted up and sent by mail, within twenty days from the making of said order.

Mailing notice to defendant.—Butler v. Butler, 11 Ala. 668; Cullum v. Bank, 23 Ala. 797; Clark v. Gilmer, 28 Ala. 265; Curry v. Falkner, 51 Ala. 564; Holly v. Bass, 63 Ala. 387. Posting at court-house door.—Batre v. Auze, 5 Ala. 173; Butler v. Butler, 11 Ala. 668. Record should show with particularity that rule was observed.—Hartley v. Bloodgood, 16 Ala. 233; Hanson v. Patterson, 17 Ala. 738; Clark v. Gilmer, 28 Ala. 265; Keiffer v. Barney, 31 Ala. 192; Paulling v. Creagh, 63 Ala. 398. See also citations to section 686 of this Code.

23 (26). Appointment of guardian ad litem, and affidavit of infancy.—If an infant of fourteen years of age fails to name a guardian ad litem, within thirty days after the summons, or after perfecting publication, the chancellor or register, in vacation, or the chancellor, in term time, shall appoint such guardian, who may be superseded by the infant appearing either before the chancellor or register, in vacation, or the chancellor, in term time, and making choice of another, or having such choice certified by a justice of the peace to the court, chancellor, or register, and on the guardian ad litem so appointed, if necessary, putting in an answer for such infant forthwith. In all cases, a minor fourteen years of age may have his or her choice of a guardian ad litem certified by a justice of the peace. No one shall be appointed guardian ad litem, unless he consent in writing to act as such. No testimony shall be required of the infancy of a party suing or being sued as such; but, before a guardian ad litem can be appointed for an infant defendant, an affidavit must be made as to the fact of infancy, and that the infant is believed to be under or over fourteen years of age; or, if the facts are stated in a sworn bill, it will be sufficient, without any separate affidavit.

Decree against infant, not supportable without appointment of guardian ad litem.—Roach v. Hix, 57 Ala. 576; Daily v. Reid, 74 Ala. 415; Levystein v. O'Bryan, 106 Ala. 352; Woods v. Transportation Co., 107 Ala. 364. The same guardian ad litem should not be appointed to represent adverse interests. Estes v. Bridgforth, Ala. (21 So. 512). Decree on admission of guardian ad litem only, erroneous.—Hooper v. Hardie, 80 Ala. 114; Mitchel v. Hardie, 84 Ala. 349. See also cases cited under rule 20 (23).

24 (27). Attachment against defendant failing to answer.—If a resident defendant of full age, as to whom an answer on oath is not waived, fails to answer, and the complainant or his solicitor wishes to enforce one, he may, after the summons to answer has been served for more than thirty days, apply in writing to the register for the issue of an attachment against the body of such defendant; and the register shall issue the same accordingly, without waiting for any order of the chancellor.

25 (28). Sequestration against defendant evading attachment.

If a defendant, against whose body an attachment has been issued to enforce an answer, eludes the service thereof, upon affidavit of the fact by the sheriff or his deputy, and by the complainant or his solicitor, of the necessity for an answer to the bill, the register shall issue a writ of sequestration against the estate of such defendant, directed to any sheriff of the State of Alabama.

26 (29). Alias and pluries process without order.—An alias, pluries, or other summons, attachment, or other writ, can issue without any order therefor.

27 (30). Bill dismissed for neglect to bring in defendant.—If the complainant shall not, before the second term after the filing of the bill, have taken measures to bring in the defendant, his bill may be dismissed.

28 (31). Dismissal, when equivalent to dismissal on merits.—If the complainant, after the cause is set down to be heard, cause the bill to be dismissed on his application, or if the cause is called on to be heard in court, and complainant makes default, and by reason thereof the bill is dismissed, then, and in such case, such dismissal, unless the court otherwise orders, is equivalent to a dismissal on the merits, and may be pleaded in bar to another suit for the same matter.

Strang v. Moog, 72 Ala. 460.

29 (32). Certificate requisite to decree pro confesso.—When an application is made to the chancellor, in term time or vacation, for a decree pro confesso against a defendant, as to whom publication has been made, the register, before the decree pro confesso shall be entered, must certify that publication has been made, and therein state when and how, and whether the notice was posted up or forwarded by mail to the defendant, and when; which certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

30 (33). Demurrer being overruled, answer filed, or decree pro confesso, or attachment.—When a demurrer is overruled, the defendant shall forthwith put in sufficient answer, unless the chancellor gives further time; and on failure to comply with the order to answer, a decree pro confesso may be entered, or an attachment against the body taken, to be followed, if need be, with a writ of sequestration, where a sworn answer is required.

31 (34). Commission to take non-resident's answer.—When a defendant resides out of the state, and an answer on oath is not waived, the register, on application of the solicitor of such defendant, shall issue a commission to one person or more to take and certify his answer. The affidavit to the answer shall be attached thereto, and be sworn to and subscribed by the defendant before such commissioners, or one of them, and be so certified by him or them, and that such defendant is known to such commissioner. Where an affidavit to a bill or petition of a party residing out of the state is necessary, it may be taken and certified in like manner, or by a commissioner appointed under section 65 of Revised Code (section 968 of this Code). The answer of a foreign corporation, taken according to law, may be certified by commissioners appointed in like manner.

Blank commission invalid.—Guice v. Parker, 46 Ala. 616.

32 (35). Injunction dissolved on answer only when sworn to. Before a motion can be entertained to dissolve an injunction upon the denials in the answer of the equity of the bill, the answer must be sworn to, whether an answer on oath is waived in the bill or not. A similar course must be taken to authorize a motion to discharge a ne exeat on the answer.

Griffin v. Bank, 17 Ala. 258; Rainey v. Rainey, 35 Ala. 282; Hart v. Clark, 54 Ala. 490.

33 (36). Defendant failing to answer not in contempt, until his exceptions are decided.—A defendant, who has excepted to a bill for scandal or impertinence, shall not be placed in contempt for want of an answer, until a decision on the exceptions.

34 (37). If oath waived, no exception to answer for insufficiency.—An answer to which the oath of the defendant is waived cannot be excepted to for insufficiency.

35 (38). Proceedings on exceptions to bill or answer.—Whenever exceptions are filed to a bill or answer in vacation, the register shall forthwith issue and cause a notice thereof to be served on the opposite party, or his solicitor; and if such party does not submit to the allowance of such exceptions, or fails, for the space of five days after service of such notice, to apply to the register to fix a day for hearing said exceptions, the register shall proceed without delay to notify both parties of the time when said exceptions will be heard by him, of which five days' notice must be given to the parties; and upon such notice being given, he shall, at the time appointed, proceed to decide on such exceptions, from which decision an appeal may be taken to the chancellor, as in other cases.

36 (39). Proceedings, if exceptions for insufficiency to answer allowed.—Should the register decide, on exceptions to an answer for insufficiency, that the exceptions be allowed, he shall in his order name a day when a further answer must be filed; and if the defendant fails to answer by that day, or puts in an insufficient answer, the register must enter a decree pro confesso, or, at the election of the complainant, issue an attachment, to be followed, if need be, by a writ of sequestration, to coerce a sufficient answer.

37 (40). If exceptions for scandal or impertinence allowed. Should the register allow an exception for scandal or impertinence, he shall draw black lines around such scandalous or impertinent matter, and write across the face thereof with red ink, "expunged"; Provided, that in all cases where a party appeals to the chancellor, all proceedings to obtain a decree pro confesso, or to coerce an answer, or to expunge improper matter, shall be suspended until the decision of the chancellor is announced.

38 (41). Exceptions; time of hearing.—When exceptions to a bill or answer are filed so near to a term of the court that the proper notice cannot be given, they shall be heard at as early a day as practicable during the term, on one day's notice; and if the decision of the register is appealed from during term time, no notice of the hearing upon the appeal shall be required.

39 (42). Amendments; mode of making.—Amendments of bills and answers shall be made on a separate piece of paper, unless the amendment be of a brief character, when it may be made by an interlineation or erasure, with ink of a different color from the body of the bill or answer; and the amendment shall be made in such a manner that it may be ascertained in what it consists.

Ala. Warehouse Co. v. Jones, 62 Ala. 550; Werborn v. Austin, 82 Ala. 498; Ladd v. Smith, 107 Ala. 506.

40 (43). Amendments to bill and answer; notice.—When amendments are proposed under sections 706 (3449) or 707 (3450) of the Code, the opposite party shall be served with a copy of the proposed amendment, with notice of the time when the application will be made. When the application will be before the register, under section 707 (3450) of the Code, the notice shall be five days before the hearing of the application, unless waived; when to the chancellor in vacation, either under that section, or under section 706 (3449) of Code, ten days' notice shall be given before the hearing of the application, unless waived; but when the application is made in term time, one day's notice shall be sufficient; and when the motion to amend is made at the hearing in term time, no notice shall be necessary, but the chancellor may postpone the hearing of the motion, as justice may require. Where a defendant is in default for want of an answer, the notice will be sufficient if entered on the order-book of the register, as directed by section 713 (3456) of the Code, for the number of days required by this rule.*

41 (44). Amendments after demurrer and argument thereof. Amendments to bills may be made after the demurrer and argument thereof, in the same manner as is provided for amendments after answer.

42 (45). After answer, order to amend bill generally not allowed.—In all cases where the original bill has been answered, no order can be obtained to amend the bill generally, but the amendments must be prepared and proposed as above directed.

43 (46). Amendments of bills considered as introduced from allowance.—When an amendment to a bill is allowed, it shall be considered as introduced into the bill from the time of its allowance.

44 (47). Notice of the allowance of amendments, how given. Notice of the allowance of amendments to bills shall be given in the following manner—that is to say:

1. Where the defendants who have answered are actually present in court, either in person or by their solicitors or guardians ad litem, at the allowance of the amendment, they shall be deemed to have notice thereof.

2. After the allowance of an amendment to the bill the complainant shall cause a notice that his bill has been amended to be served upon all defendants who shall have been served with summons to answer the original bill, and who were not in court, either in person or by solicitor, or guardian ad litem, at the allowance thereof; unless the defendant is a non-resident, in which event the court shall direct in what manner he shall be notified.

3. All parties who, at the allowance of an amendment, shall be in default, shall be deemed to have notice thereof, after a notice that the bill has been amended shall have been entered on the order-book for such time as the chancellor or register may direct.

When notice presumed.—Berney Nat. Bank v. Guyon, 111 Ala. 491. Notice necessary to perfect amendment.—Alston v. Alston, 34 Ala. 15, 23. Notice of amendment to defendant in default by entry on order-book necessary. Holly v. Bass, 63 Ala. 387; McClenny v. Ward, 80 Ala. 243.

45 (48). Supplemental matter introduced by way of amendment.—New facts occurring since the filing of a bill may be introduced by way of amendment, without a supplemental bill.

P. & M. Ins. Co. v. Selma S. Bank, 63 Ala. 595.

46 (49). Decree pro confesso not set aside by amendment, and effect of decree pro confesso on amendment.—An amendment to a bill, or the filing of an amended bill, shall not set aside a decree pro confesso as to any defendant to the original or any other bill; nor shall a decree pro confesso for want of an answer to an amendment or an amended bill operate as a decree pro confesso on the original or any other amended bill already answered.

47 (49a). Submission of cause; time of filing amendment when dismissed in vacation.—When a cause is submitted in term time, or in vacation, on the pleadings and evidence for a final decree in vacation, and the bill is dismissed in vacation on account of defects in the pleadings, or a variance between the proof and the allegations of the bill, if the complainant desire to amend the pleadings, he must apply to the chancellor for leave to amend on or before the second day of the next ensuing term of the said chancery court. Adopted Feb. 2, 1887.

48 (50). Decree pro confesso after thirty days.—A decree pro confesso may be entered upon amendments, against each defendant who fails to answer the same within thirty days after notice thereof, as above provided, unless the matter of the amendment has been denied in some previous answer of such defendant. When the justice of the case requires it, the chancellor or register allowing the amendment may enlarge the time for answer.

TESTIMONY.

49 (51). Testimony taken after cause is at issue.—Testimony cannot be taken by either party until the cause is at issue by sufficient answer, or decree pro confesso, as to all the defendants.

Testimony taken before issue as to material defendant inadmissible against him for any purpose.—Harris v. Moore, 72 Ala. 507. In such case when defendant is an infant motion to suppress unnecessary.—Daily v. Reid, 74 Ala. 415. When such testimony admissible against new defendant, claiming through former parties to the suit.—Wells v. Mortgage Co., 109 Ala. 430.

50 (52). Interrogatories filed and copies served.—When a cause is at issue, as laid down in the last rule, either party desiring to take testimony, must file his interrogatories in the office of the register, a copy of which must be served upon the opposite party, as directed in sections 731 (3471) and 732 (3472) of the Code.*

51 (53). Party desiring to be present gives notice.—When a party desires to be present at the examination of a witness against him, he shall give notice to the adverse party, by filing a notice with his cross-interrogatories; whereupon, it shall be the duty of the register to prescribe the notice which he shall receive of the time and place of the execution of the commission.

Motion to suppress for want of notice addressed to chancellor's discretion. Nelms v. Kennon, 88 Ala. 329.

52 (54). Re-examination.—A party against whom a witness has been examined, may re-examine such witness, provided he did not file cross-interrogatories upon the first examination. The examination, under this rule, shall operate as a cross-examination of such witness. Both parties shall have the liberty of being present at such re-examination, but the party wishing to re-examine such witness shall give such notice to the opposite party of the time and place of such re-examination as the register shall prescribe.

53 (55). By parties filing cross-interrogatories.—When a party who has filed cross-interrogatories afterwards learns that the witness has a knowledge of facts which he did not know at the time of filing his cross-interrogatories, it shall be the duty of the register, on affidavit made, setting forth such facts, to order a re-examination, as in the preceding rule.

54 (56). Examinations de bene esse.—When a bill is filed, and, either before or after the same is at issue as to all the defendants, upon affidavit made that any witness of the complainant is over sixty years of age, or so infirm that affiant fears that injury will result from delay owing to such infirmity, or that he is about to remove permanently from the state, or that he is a single witness to a material fact, the chancellor or register, in vacation, or the chancellor, in term time, shall make an order to take the testimony of such witness de bene esse. Such order may be made for the examination of such witness or witnesses upon interrogatories, after three days' service of a copy of the same upon the opposite party or his solicitor, and upon cross-interrogatories, which may be submitted at any time before the examination. Or the court, chancellor, or register, may fix the time and place of the examination of such witness or witnesses, and the notice of the same to be given to the opposite party, and such examination may be upon interrogatories propounded orally or in writing. In either case, the register may take such examination, or may issue a commission to one or more suitable persons to take the same.

55 (57). After the examination of a witness de bene esse, the party shall not be required to make further examination, but may use testimony so taken on the hearing; the opposite party, however, shall have the right to retake the testimony of such witness. A defendant, who has answered the bill when the cause is not at issue as to other defendants, may, in like manner, and for like causes, examine any of his witnesses de bene esse.

56 (58). Testimony in interpleader.—The complainant in a bill of interpleader, intending to take testimony, must give notice and serve interrogatories upon the parties required to interplead; and if either of the defendants desires to take testimony, he must serve interrogatories as well upon the complainant as upon the adverse defendant; but after a decree of interpleader, it shall not be necessary for either defendant taking testimony to serve the complainant with interrogatories or notice.

57 (59). Mode of impeaching testimony.—The testimony of witnesses may be impeached by deposition, taken according to the Code and the foregoing rules, and no articles of impeachment shall, in any case, be filed.

58 (60). Notice accompanies interrogatories; objection to commissioner.—A notice shall accompany interrogatories to take the deposition of a witness, giving the names of the commissioner or commissioners. If the opposite party has any objection to such commissioner or commissioners, he shall file his objections within the time prescribed for filing exceptions to interrogatories; and the same shall be heard by the register and decided, and the decision reviewed, as in case of interrogatories. If the register overrules the objection, the commission shall issue to the person or persons proposed; if he allows the same, he shall appoint some other person or persons, free from objection, to execute the commission.

When no objection interposed, register must issue commission to person suggested.—Merlette v. State, 100 Ala. 42.

59 (61). Chancellors appoint examiners; qualification and duty. The several chancellors in this state shall, within their respective divisions, have power to appoint one or more examiners in each county, to take and certify the depositions of witnesses, who shall be officers of the chancery court, and sworn faithfully to discharge the duties of their office; and if, upon filing interrogatories, no commissioner shall be named by the complainant or his solicitor, nor any other person than the examiner suggested by the defendant or his solicitor, the deposition shall be taken by such examiner, without any commission from the register; but either party may, by writing indorsed on the interrogatories or cross-interrogatories, require the examiner to give him notice of the time and place of taking the testimony. Such examiners shall have the like power to compel the attendance of witnesses, and shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed to commissioners by the existing laws.

60 (62). Names and residences of witnesses given.—Hereafter, when a party files interrogatories to examine a witness or witnesses, he shall give the name or names of the witnesses, and place or places of their residence, or make affidavit that the same is unknown; and, on failure to do so, no commission shall issue, nor proceedings be had on said interrogatories, except by consent of the opposite party, or his solicitor.

61 (63). No interrogatories or notice to party in contempt; waiver of notice.—A defendant, against whom a decree pro confesso shall be in force, shall not be served with a copy of the interrogatories, or any notice of the taking of the testimony; nor shall it be necessary in such case that the interrogatories shall be filed in the register's office any number of days before a commission issues. In all cases the parties can waive the ten days' service of interrogatories, and a consent in writing to the issue of a commission shall be deemed a waiver.

Objection that residence not given, how waived.—Aicardi v. Strang, 38 Ala. 326; Farmer v. Farmer, 86 Ala. 322.

62 (64). Inclosure and direction of depositions; publication; after publication testimony not taken without consent or order. Deposition shall be sealed up with the commission by the commissioner, with the title of the case and the names of the witnesses indorsed on the envelope; and the package shall be directed to the register at the proper place. Publication of the testimony must be passed by the court, or before the chancellor or register, or it may be done, by consent of parties, in writing entered on the back of the deposition or depositions, or otherwise. After publication passed, no testimony shall be taken except by consent, or by special application to the chancellor and allowance by him.

Rules as to taking additional testimony after publication passed or remandment of cause.—Johnston v. Glasscock, 2 Ala. 218, 251; Harrell v. Mitchell, 61 Ala. 270; Nunn v. Nunn, 66 Ala. 35; Gordon v. Tweedy, 74 Ala. 232; Eureka Co. v. Edwards, 80 Ala. 250; Dixon v. Higgins, 82 Ala. 284. When rehearing granted, discretionary with chancellor to allow additional testimony.—Stein v. Dahm, 96 Ala. 481. Irregular to re-examine witness without order of court.—Meyer v. Mitchell, 77 Ala. 312. Publication without prejudice; effect of.—Dixon v. Higgins, 82 Ala. 284. As to duty of commissioner.—See citations to sections 723 and 1841 of this Code.

63 (65). Register's duty on publication of testimony.—When testimony is published, the register shall withdraw the same from the envelopes, and indorse the title of the cause with the names of the witnesses, and by which party examined, upon the back of the depositions, and that the same was published by order of the court, chancellor, or register, or by consent of parties, and then file the same with the papers of the cause.

64 (66). Proof of exhibits and documents.—No order shall be necessary to prove exhibits viva voce; but where there is not a decree pro confesso, or the proof of exhibits, or notice waived, the opposite solicitor must be served with one day's notice before the hearing that such exhibits will be proved at the hearing. Other documentary testimony may be proved on like notice. The court can put off the hearing to give time to prove or rebut documentary testimony.

Proof of exhibits, etc., at hearing; practice.—LeVert v. Redwood, 9 Port. 79; Judson v. Emanuel, 1 Ala. 598; Pierce v. Prude, 3 Ala. 65; Martin v. Bank, 10 Ala. 182; Wynn v. Rosette, 66 Ala. 517; Dawson v. Burrus, 73 Ala.

111. Ex parte affidavits not within rule.—Am. F. L. Mtge. Co. v. Dykes, 111 Ala. 178.

65. Rules for taking the oral examination of witnesses in chancery cases.—1. Every notice required to be given under the following rules, must be given in writing by the party desiring it to the adverse party, or to his solicitor of record, if either resides in the chancery district; but if neither resides therein, the notice may be given by an entry on the order-book of the register. Adopted Dec. 10, 1889.

2. Any party to a cause who may require the examination of any witness to be taken orally, shall file such request with the register, and give notice thereof to the adverse party at least three days before the examination is taken.

3. In case interrogatories in writing to a witness are filed, and any party to the cause shall require the examination of such witness to be taken orally, he shall give the other parties to the cause, or their solicitors, notice of such requirement within five days after notice of the filing of such interrogatories, or on failure to give such notice shall be held to have waived the right to any oral examination.

4. Notice shall be given by the solicitor of the party calling the witness to the opposing party or parties of the time and place of the examination, for such reasonable time as the register or examiner or special commissioner may fix by order in each case.

5. The examination of witnesses shall take place in the presence of the parties or their agents by their solicitors, and the witnesses shall be subject to cross-examination and re-examination, which shall be conducted, as near as may be, in the mode in use in the common-law courts; but in case either party or his solicitor shall fail to attend at the time and place of such examination after notice, the officer taking such examination may proceed therewith in his or their absence.

6. The depositions taken upon oral examinations shall be taken down in writing by the examiner in the form of a narrative, unless some question is raised on the legality or pertinency of the interrogatory, or on the legality or sufficiency of the answer. Questions arising under this exception must be noted and fully set forth by the examiner, if requested by either party. When completed, the deposition shall be read over to the witness, and shall be signed by him in the presence of the parties or counsel, or such of them as may attend; Provided, that if the witness shall refuse to sign the same, then the officer taking such deposition shall state that fact in his certificate.

7. The officer taking such examination may state to the court therein any special matters he may think fit; and any question or questions which may be objected to shall be noted upon the deposition, as stated in rule 6, by the officer taking the examination, but he shall not have power to decide on the competency, materiality or relevancy of the questions or answers; and the chancellor shall have power to deal with the costs of incompetent, immaterial, or irrelevant depositions, or parts of them, as may place the costs unnecessarily incurred on the offending party.

8. The officer taking such examination may adjourn the same from time to time, but no adjournment for any longer time than two days shall be made except upon the consent of the parties, or on pressing necessity, which consent or necessity shall be noted in the deposition by the officer taking the same.

9. The deposition when taken shall be transmitted to the register in the same manner as is now provided for the transmission of depositions taken on interrogatories.

Adopted June 25, 1891.

10. The word "party," in the foregoing rules, shall be construed to mean not only all the complainants, or all the defendants, but any individual, material party, whether complainant or defendant.

11. Adverse party, to whom notice is required to be given under these rules, embraces not only those on the adverse side, as shown by the docket, but those on the same side of the mover, if representing an interest adverse to him, and if the testimony propounded to be taken affects that interest.

Duty of commissioner; may not rule on evidence.—Elyton Land Co. v. Denny, 108 Ala. 553. When mistake in name of witness no ground for suppressing oral examination.—McCutchen v. Loggins, 109 Ala. 457.

DOCKETS, SPECIAL TERMS, HEARINGS, DECREES, AND APPEALS.

66 (67). Docket; what it must contain; filed with papers.—The register of each court shall prepare a docket, for each term, of all the causes not finally disposed of at the previous term, and of the suits since commenced, in which shall be entered the name of each complainant and defendant. This docket must be laid off with appropriate columns; one with names of the solicitors and the number of the cause; one with the names of the parties; in another must be entered the time when each pleading was filed, and, opposite to the names of the respective defendants, the state of the cause as to such defendants, as thus: "Answer filed," "answer filed by guardian ad litem," "decree pro confesso on publication," as the case may be; and where the cause is not at issue as to any defendant, a vacant space must be left opposite the name of such defendant. In another column must be entered, in regular order as to time, a short note of the several orders and decrees made in the cause by the court, chancellor, or register, in one place, and those by the register in another; with the note of the orders made by the register shall be noted the date of the issue and return of all summons and other process, orders and rules. This docket will contain one other distinct column, left blank for the entries of the chancellor during the term. The register will file in the papers of each cause on the docket an exact copy of the docket of said cause, and the entries thereon, for the use of the chancellor, which paper is part of the record. The causes will be placed on the docket in the order in which the original bills are filed; and the number placed on the bill when filed must not be changed, and all the papers of the cause must be so numbered.

Failure of register to docket cause not a discontinuance.—Presley v. McLean, 80 Ala. 309.

67 (68). Caption of minutes; form of.—The caption of the minutes of a regular term of the court of chancery must be in the following form, to wit:

"At a court of chancery held for the —— district, composed of the county of ——, in the State of Alabama, at the court-house thereof, in the town of ——, on the —— Monday of ——, being the —— day of said month, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ——; present, the Honorable —— ——, chancellor of the —— chancery division of said state" (as the case may be).

Where the court is held at a different place than the county-site, or there are more counties in the district than one, the proper changes will be made.

68 (69). Special or extra terms; proceedings in reference to. When a special or extra term of a court of chancery is ordered by a chancellor, he will transmit the order therefor to the register, who must enter the same on the minute-book of the court immediately after the minutes of the previous term, file the order in his office, and have the same published as directed by the chancellor, and certify to such chancellor, who is to hold said extra term, that publication has been made in pursuance of said order. When a special or extra term is held, the caption of the minutes of the courts shall be so varied as to show the time when the order therefor was made, and the length of time it was published, certified as above.

69 (70). Hearing; failure of parties to appear; setting aside default.—When a cause is called for hearing, if the complainant does not appear, it shall be dismissed; if he appears, and the defendant does not, it shall be heard and decree rendered according to the claim and proof. Either party, on timely application, may set aside his default, on such terms as the court may impose.

70 (71). Continuance.—Application for continuance for want of testimony must be in writing, and conform to the rule in regard to the continuance of trials in the courts of law.

Granting or refusal of continuance in chancery, as at law, discretionary and irrevisable.—Evans v. Bolling, 5 Ala. 550; P. & M. Bank v. Walker, 7 Ala. 926; Dudley v. Witter, 46 Ala. 664; Thorington v. City Council, 94 Ala. 266. May be granted on terms, such as execution of bond by defendant.—Dudley v. Witter, 51 Ala. 456. Or payment of costs.—Rhea v. Tucker, 56 Ala. 450. See also citations to rule 16 of circuit-court practice.

71 (72). No continuance without disposition of the question of equity.—No application for a continuance for want of testimony must be considered, unless the equity of the bill is admitted, until the question of equity is disposed of, by way of motion to dismiss for want of equity, or, if there is a demurrer to the bill, by decision on the demurrer.

72 (73). Demurrers and pleas; when filed.—All demurrers, whether contained in the answer or not, are to be disposed of on the calling of the cause, without waiting for the cause to be ready on the proof; but when the cause is ready for hearing on the pleadings and proofs, it must be heard, without waiting for a separate decision on a demurrer contained in the answer. This rule must also apply where a plea is interposed, the truth of which is admitted.

73 (74). Exceptions and demurrer; when heard.—All exceptions to bills, answers, reports, or testimony, whether coming before the court in the first place for consideration, or by way of appeal or review, must be heard in connection with the equity of the bill, unless that question has been previously decided or admitted; also, if there is a demurrer undisposed of in the case, it must be considered by the court at the same time with the exceptions.

74 (75). Pleas, demurrers, or motions to dismiss for want of equity, may be heard in vacation.—When a plea or a demurrer is interposed to a bill, either party may set the same down for hearing in vacation, whether it is filed without answer, or incorporated in the answer; the hearing to be had on ten days' notice to the adverse party of the time and place, and the same shall be decided by the chancellor as if the hearing was had in term time. Any material defendant may, on ten days' notice to the complainant or his solicitor of record, before answer, and before the first term after the filing of a bill, move to dismiss the bill for want of equity, and such motion shall be heard and determined by the chancellor as if made in term time. Decrees of the chancellor rendered under this rule shall be filed with the register, and by him enrolled as if made in term time. The hearings to be had on copy of bill, and of plea or demurrer, certified by the register and furnished by the party applying for the hearing.

75 (76). Motion to dismiss for want of equity; when heard.—A defendant may, at any stage of the cause, move to dismiss a bill for want of equity, unless a similar motion has been previously made and determined. If the cause is ready for hearing on bill and answer, or pleadings and proofs, such motion may be made and heard in connection with the final hearing.

Decree pro confesso no bar to motion.—Madden v. Floyd, 69 Ala. 221. Motion to dismiss; its office; when and when not granted.—Hooper v. S. & M. R. Co., 69 Ala. 529; Seals v. Robinson, 75 Ala. 363; Harland v. Person, 93 Ala. 273; Scholze v. Steiner, 100 Ala. 148; Bell v. Light Co., 103 Ala. 275; Pate v. Hinson, 104 Ala. 599; Sherer v. Garrison, 111 Ala. 228; Holt v. Pickett, 111 Ala. 362; Kyle v. Ry. Co., 112 Ala. 606.

76 (77). Proceedings on hearing.—On the hearing of a cause, the court can dispense with the reading of the pleadings and proofs; and in that case, the complainant's counsel must state the case made by the bill, and the defendant's counsel the defense made by the answer. The complainant's counsel must then offer his testimony in chief, naming the witnesses and other testimony, of which the register must take a note; and then that of the defendant must be offered, and noted by the register; to which the complainant, in like manner, must offer his rebutting testimony. Any testimony not offered in this way, and noted by the register on the minutes, must not be considered as any part of the record, nor be considered by the chancellor. Counsel on either side, in the course of their arguments, can read any portion of the pleadings or proofs. A hearing on bill and answer, motion, demurrer, exceptions, or appeal, shall conform, as far as applicable, to this rule.

Testimony not noted not considered.—Carter v. Thompson, 41 Ala. 375; Rice v. Tobias, 83 Ala. 348; Reese v. Barker, 85 Ala. 474; Harn v. Common Council, 100 Ala. 199. Answer when offered in evidence should be noted. Goodloe v. Dean, 81 Ala. 479. If submission on decree pro confesso, note unnecessary.—Jones v. Beverly, 45 Ala. 161. Setting aside submission discretionary with chancellor.—Magruder v. Campbell, 40 Ala. 611; Dixon v. Higgins, 82 Ala. 284; Ex parte Ashhurst, 100 Ala. 573; Yeend v. Weeks, 104 Ala. 331; Jones v. White, 112 Ala. 449. Erroneous to allow plea, without notice after submission.—Wilkinson v. Buster, Ala. (22 So. 34). Or verification of answer.—McMinn v. Karter, Ala. (22 So. 517).

77 (78). Memorandum of testimony entered and copy filed. The register shall enter on the minutes of the court a memorandum of the testimony offered by each party on the hearing of a cause, a copy of which shall be filed with the papers for the use of the chancellor.

78 (79). Submission at call for motions.—At the call for motions, each morning, any cause can be submitted for decree without argument, unless objection is made; and when a cause is submitted for decree without argument, the testimony must be offered and noted, as directed in the two foregoing rules.

79 (80). Decrees in vacation; proceedings and process on. When a cause is submitted during term time for a decree or order, such decree shall be valid if rendered during any vacation. When any decree or order is made by a chancellor in vacation, it shall be the duty of the register, as soon as the same is filed in his office, to enter the same at length on the minute-book of the court immediately after the minutes of the previous term, and the same shall be considered as enrolled from and after such entry, which shall be dated; but if said decree be other than for the payment of money, no process for its execution shall issue thereon until the next ensuing term of the court, unless the complainant, or his solicitor, shall have given to the defendant, or his solicitor, ten days' notice in writing of his or their intention to have execution of the decree, which notice shall be served by the sheriff, and filed with the register, as a paper in said cause. When the decree is rendered in vacation, either party may apply for a rehearing by the second day of the next ensuing term of said court.

Decree in vacation valid.—Forrest v. Luddington, 68 Ala. 1 (in effect overruling Rogers v. Torbut, 58 Ala. 523); Hooper v. Strahan, 71 Ala. 75. Rehearings at next term.—Ex parte Gresham, 82 Ala. 359; Ga. Pac. Ry. Co. v. Gaines, 88 Ala. 377; Stein v. Dahm, 96 Ala. 481. On subject of decrees in vacation, see Ga. Pac. Ry. Co. v. Gaines, 88 Ala. 377; also citations to sections 845 and 847 of this Code.

80 (80a). Consents to orders and decrees entered into in vacation.—Consents entered into in vacation, that chancellors shall make orders and render interlocutory or final decrees in vacation, shall be in writing, signed by the parties, or their counsel, and filed in the cause in which made; when made for an infant party to the cause, such consent shall be signed by the guardian ad litem of such infant, or by such other party as may be the duly authorized representative of such infant in the case, or by the counsel of such guardian ad litem or other representative.

Rehearing of consent decree, when allowed.—Ex parte Gresham, 82 Ala. 359.

81 (81). Decrees in term time; chancellor's reasons, transcript. All decrees and orders made by the court in term time, with the exception of their captions, shall be entered at length on the minutes of the court. The chancellor's reasons, however, for such decree or order shall not be entered. If an appeal should be taken, the register shall not include in the transcript both the original order of decree on file, and the entry on the minutes; nor shall they both be included in the final record.

82 (82). Rehearing.—A party desiring a rehearing of a decree must apply to the chancellor at chambers, by petition, during the term in which the decree is rendered. The petition need not state any of the proceedings anterior to the decree sought to be reheard, but must state the special matter or cause on which the rehearing is applied for, and the principal points in which the decree is alleged to be erroneous; and the facts, if they do not appear from the records of the court, must be verified by the affidavit of the party, or some other person. The petition must be confined to the case made by the record. On this petition the chancellor must determine, without argument, whether the cause ought to be reheard; and, if he concludes to grant a rehearing, order accordingly, but if he declines to do so, no order must be made on said petition.

Rehearings discretionary.—Ex parte Gresham, 82 Ala. 359; Brown v. Weaver, Ala. (20 So. 964). Also, allowing additional testimony. Stein v. Dahm, 96 Ala. 481. Pleading and practice.—Ex parte Gresham, 82 Ala. 359.

83 (83). Orders, and opening of them.—An order of reference, or to take and state an account, or make inquiry by the register, or any other order preparatory of a cause, whether made by the chancellor or register in vacation, or by the court, may, at any subsequent time before final decree, be opened, varied, or discharged, on motion of either party, or the court may, without motion, revoke any order previously made.

84 (84). Questioning final decree after adjournment.—A final decree shall not be called in question, before the court rendering it, after the adjournment of the term when rendered, except by bill of review, and shall never be impeached by original bill, unless on the ground of fraud.

85 (85). Transcript on appeal.—When an appeal is taken from a decision of the chancellor on any matter decided by him, the transcript sent to the supreme court must contain, as well a copy of the opinion filed by the chancellor, if any, as of the decree or order appealed from.

86 (86). Appeal; in whose name taken.—Any complainant or defendant, in a cause in which a decree or order final may have been rendered, may appeal to the supreme court in the name of himself and all the other complainants or defendants to the decree.

Summons and severance in assignment of errors.—Beachman v. Mfg. Co., 110 Ala. 555.

87 (87). Appeal bond for restoration of injunction; ne exeat or writ of seizure.—The chancellor shall, upon making any final or interlocutory decree which has the effect of dissolving an injunction, or discharging a ne exeat or attachment in chancery authorizing the seizure of property, prescribe the penalty and condition of the bond to be given by the appellant, should he thereafter appeal from such decree; and the appeal in such cases, when taken before the register, and the bond executed as prescribed by the chancellor, and approved by the register, shall operate to restore the injunction, ne exeat, or writ of seizure in the nature of an attachment, until the same shall be reviewed in the supreme court.

Condition, how determined; bond not summarily enforceable.—Halsey v. Murray, 112 Ala. 185.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE REGISTER AS MASTER.

88 (88). Sessions of register, place of.—The sessions of the register, as master in chancery, shall be held at his office, unless the chancellor or court otherwise directs, or he himself appoints a different place by consent of parties.

89 (89). Testimony, how taken.—Testimony offered before the register must be noted by him, and nothing not so offered shall be considered. Oral testimony taken before him shall be reduced to writing, paged severally, and the name of the witness and the subject of the testimony noted in the margin. Such testimony shall be properly attached, and is part of the file. Exceptions to rulings of the register on testimony, admitted or rejected by him, must be noted by him; and if not so taken, the exception is waived.

Taking down testimony.—Mahone v. Williams, 39 Ala. 202; Weaver v. Cooper, 73 Ala. 318. See also citations to section 741 of this Code.

90 (90). Accounts before register, form of.—All accounts taken by the register shall be in the form of debtor and creditor, and the vouchers must be so numbered as to correspond with the numbers on the account. A reference, however, to ascertain the amount due from one party to another, where a statement of an account is not necessary, need not be in this form.

O'Neill v. Perryman, 102 Ala. 522.

91 (90 a). Accounting before register.—All parties accounting before a register shall bring in their respective accounts in the form of debtor and creditor, verified by affidavit; and any of the other parties, who shall not be satisfied with the accounts so brought in, shall be at liberty to examine the accounting party, viva voce or upon interrogatories, in the register's office, or by deposition, as the register shall direct. Adopted April 7, 1888.

92 (91). Notice of taking account.—The register shall not be required to give notice of the taking of an account to any defendant who has failed to answer the bill. Where a reference is executed during term time, one day's notice must be given to the parties entitled, unless waived, and, when executed in vacation, at least five days.

93 (92). Objections to report, exceptions heard by chancellor. No notice to the parties to bring in objections to the draft of a report shall be necessary, nor can any exceptions be taken before the register to such draft; nor shall any exceptions to a report be referred to the register, but the same shall be heard and decided, in the first instance, by the chancellor or court.

Clark v. Knox, 70 Ala. 607.

94 (93). Exceptions, how taken.—In filing exceptions to the report of the register, or any part thereof, it shall be the duty of the solicitor filing the same to note at the foot of each exception to conclusions of facts, drawn by the register, the evidence, or parts of evidence he relies on in support of the exceptions, with such designation and marks of reference as to direct the attention of the court to the same; and if the opposing solicitor desires to do so, he can note in writing such other parts of the evidence as he may deem material to the inquiry. In considering such exceptions, the chancellor need not examine testimony not thus noted. To enable the opposing solicitor to file such additional note under this rule, he shall be allowed one day after the exceptions are filed, within which to do the same, if he state his belief that the testimony referred to by the party excepting does not fairly and fully present the question for decision.

Evidence to support exception must be noted.—Stewart v. Cross, 66 Ala. 22; Jones v. White, 112 Ala. 449; and cases cited under section 745 of this Code. Register sustained unless conclusion palpably wrong.—Anniston L. & T. Co. v. Ward, 108 Ala. 85; Jones v. White, 112 Ala. 449. See also citations to section 745 of this Code.

95 (94). Report, confirmation of; exceptions to.—Reports of the register, read in open court on one day, may be confirmed the next, unless excepted to; and when that is the case, exceptions can be heard and determined without further postponement. The chancellor may extend the time for excepting to reports, and for hearing exceptions, to such day or days as he may deem proper; but a defendant against whom a decree pro confesso has been entered, and who has not appeared before the register on the reference, shall not be allowed to except to the report, but, as to such defendant, the report shall be confirmed when read. Any defendant who failed to appear before the register on the reference, or is otherwise in contempt, or who has not submitted to the jurisdiction of the court, shall not be allowed to except to the report of the register, but, as to such defendant, the same shall be confirmed when read. A defendant against whom a decree pro confesso is in force, and who appeared before the register on a reference, may except to the report; and any defendant in contempt for want of an answer may except to the report of the register as to the sufficiency of an answer proposed to be filed by him.

Clark v. Knox, 70 Ala. 607.

PETITIONS AND MOTIONS.

96 (95). Motions every morning.—Each morning of the term, after the first day, before the regular calls of the docket shall be commenced, motions shall be called for, when any motion or petition, not affecting the merits of a cause in court, but preparatory of the same for hearing, or in regard to other matters necessary to be brought before the court, can be submitted; and, at the calling of a cause, any incidental motion can be submitted.

97 (96). Motions to dissolve injunctions; hearing of.—Motions to dissolve injunctions, when made in term time, may be submitted during the call for motions, on one day's notice, or at the regular call of the docket; but if the cause is then ready for hearing on the merits, the court must proceed with the hearing, without taking up the motion separately. When there is a demurrer for want of equity or other cause, and the motion to dissolve the injunction is made in term time, the demurrer must be heard in connection with the motion; but if there is no demurrer, or motion to dismiss for want of equity, the equity of the bill must, nevertheless, be considered by the court, and if it wants equity, it must be dismissed; but no motion shall be made to dissolve an injunction on the denials of the answer, unless the answer has been filed at least twenty-four hours. When a motion is made to dissolve an injunction, and exceptions to the answer have been filed and remain undecided, they shall be decided by the chancellor in connection with the motion, without being in the first instance passed on by the register.

Trump v. McDonnell, 112 Ala. 256.

98 (97). Notice of motions.—All special motions and petitions, which are not, by the practice of the court, considered ex parte, must be made and heard upon one day's notice in writing, unless notice is waived.

Notice to the complainant who prosecutes general creditor's bill sufficient. Parker v. Wheel Co., 108 Ala. 140. Notice of petition.—Thornton v. H. A. & B. R. Co., 94 Ala. 353.

INJUNCTIONS; REVIVOR; SUPPLEMENTAL BILLS.

99 (98). Where exceptions to answer overruled, chancellor may dissolve injunction.—Where exceptions have been filed to an answer for insufficiency, and decided by the chancellor to be not well taken, it shall be in his discretion to dissolve the injunction without motion or further argument.

100 (99). Defendant not brought in before second term, injunction dissolved.—When a complainant in an injunction bill takes no steps to bring in a defendant before the second term after an injunction has been obtained, the same shall be dissolved of course.

101 (100). Applications to reinstate injunctions; appeals.—All applications to reinstate injunctions must be made, in the first instance, to the chancellor who pronounced the order of dissolution, and, when made in vacation, must be on petition, setting forth the grounds of the application; the facts of which petition must be verified by affidavit. A copy of this petition must be served, with a notice of the time and place of the application, on the defendant or his solicitor, at least ten days before the hearing of such application, unless the chancellor, for sufficient reasons, set forth in the petition, dispenses with notice to the opposite party, and then it can be heard ex parte on presentation. If the application is refused, the complainant can appeal to a judge of the supreme court, if that court is not in session; but, should it be in session, the appeal must be to that court, and not to a judge thereof.

102 (101). No abatement on account of feme sole complainant's marriage.—No suit instituted by an unmarried woman, or in which she shall be complainant, shall abate by her intermarriage; but her husband may make himself a party on motion, of course, at or before the second term after such intermarriage.

M. & C. R. Co. v. Womack, 84 Ala. 149; Alexander v. Steele, 84 Ala. 332.

103 (102). Revivor upon death, marriage, or expiration of office.—Upon the death of a plaintiff, no bill of revivor shall be necessary to revive the suit, unless so directed by the chancellor; but his personal representatives or heirs, or both, as the case may require, shall be made parties, on motion ex parte, before the register in vacation, or the chancellor in term time. So, upon the death of a defendant, instead of proceeding by bill to revive against his personal representative or heirs, upon a verbal suggestion to the register or chancellor, an ex parte order shall be made for a summons to issue to his personal representatives or heirs, or both, if required, to appear at a day named, and defend in the place of the deceased; and, when such summons is served, the suit shall be considered as revived at the expiration of thirty days after service thereof, and be thereafter prosecuted against the new parties without any order of revivor. When the complainant or defendant is an executor or administrator, and his term of office expires by death, resignation, or otherwise, a similar course may be taken to make the administrator de bonis non, or other representative, of the original party in interest, a party to the suit. A legal representative or heir may come in voluntarily and make himself a party. No process or bill shall be required to bring in the husband of a female defendant when married pending the suit, but the same shall be prosecuted to a final termination in his absence; or the plaintiff can suggest the marriage, and have an order for a summons against such husband, as in case of a representative of a deceased defendant; or such husband may voluntarily make himself a party. When a plaintiff proceeds by suggestion to bring in a representative or heir, and makes affidavit as required by the twenty-fifth rule of chancery practice, publication can be made against such absent heir or representative as required by said rule; and when the time therein specified expires, and such absent heir or representative fails to make himself a party, the chancellor or register shall make an order declaring such person to be a party in lieu of the deceased party; and the cause shall proceed against such absent party, and, if necessary, a decree pro confesso be entered against him; or, if the defendant is a minor, a guardian ad litem be appointed for him. This rule is not intended to prevent the parties from proceeding by bill of revivor, as directed by the three following rules, or according to the English practice, if they so elect; nor to prevent the chancellor from directing the cause to be revived by bill, whenever he deems such course proper.

Practice as to revivor.—Paulling v. Creagh, 63 Ala. 398; Floyd v. Ritter, 65 Ala. 501; Fearn v. Ward, 80 Ala. 555; Wells v. Mortgage Co., 109 Ala. 430; LeGrand v. McKenzie, 110 Ala. 493.

104 (103). Supplemental bills and bills of revivor; recitals and contents of.—In filing supplemental bills, bills of revivor and supplement, it shall not be necessary to recite any part of the original bill, nor any part of the subsequent proceedings; but in supplemental bills it shall be sufficient to refer to the original bill, and state the new matter; and in bills of revivor, the cause requiring the revivor, with the appropriate prayer.

105 (104). Proceedings and practice in relation to.—Summons on supplemental bills, bills of revivor and supplement shall be returnable to a day certain, not less than thirty days from the time of its issue; and, on its being executed thirty days, the chancellor or register, in vacation, or the chancellor, in term time, may, if the supplemental matter be not answered, order the same to be taken pro confesso, subject to be set aside on filing sufficient answer, or, if it be a bill of revivor, order the suit to stand revived, or, if the bill calls for an answer to the original bill, decree that the same be taken pro confesso, or direct proceedings to enforce an answer, by attachment or sequestration, as directed in the foregoing rules, either as to the original or supplemental matter. No summons, however, to revive or to answer the original or supplemental matter, under this rule, shall be returnable to a day beyond the first day of the next term; but if thirty days do not intervene between the filing of the bill and the next term, the summons shall issue returnable to that term; and if executed five days before its commencement, the decree pro confesso, or order to revive, or to enforce an answer, shall be then made, unless good cause be shown to the contrary.

106 (105). Publication, order of.—Orders of publication against defendants who cannot be served shall be made on supplemental bills, bills of revivor, or bills of revivor and supplement, as upon original bills; and after the expiration of the time required to answer or show cause, supplemental matter may be taken pro confesso, or the suit revived, as to such defendant. Where the original bill has not been answered, service can be perfected under an order of publication on the supplemental bill, or bill of revivor, and an answer required, followed by a decree pro confesso.

107 (106). Costs in cases of abatement.—Suits or decrees may be revived for costs; and whenever any suit in chancery is allowed to abate, in consequence of the death of any one or more of the parties, complainants or defendants, the court of chancery shall decree against the parties then alive such costs to be taxed by the register, as accrued at the instance of such living parties, and shall award a summons to the legal representative of such party as may be dead, to show cause why the costs which had accrued against such deceased party shall not be decreed against such representative, to be levied of the estate of said decedent in his hands to be administered; and upon service of said summons, or return of two successive writs of summons "not found," and no sufficient cause being shown, the court shall decree accordingly; but no decree can be rendered under this rule against the representative until eighteen months after the grant of letters, and if the estate be reported insolvent, the decree shall be certified as judgments at law against such estate.

MORTGAGE SUITS.

108 (107). Allegation as to subsequent incumbrancers; decree as to sale and proceeds.—In mortgage suits, it shall be sufficient to bring in subsequent incumbrancers to state that they claim some interest in the subject of the bill, and pray for a summons to them to answer; and the court shall have power to decree a sale, and direct the proceeds to be brought into court, without adjusting the priorities between such parties, unless there be some equity shown which makes it necessary; and any person, whether a party to the suit or otherwise, shall have the liberty to present his claim, by petition to the court, for the proceeds of the sale before distribution.

Rule limited to subsequent incumbrancers.—Wells v. Mortgage Co., 109 Ala. 430. Parties claiming distinct titles, adversely to mortgagor and mortgagee, not proper parties.—s. c.; Randle v. Boyd, 73 Ala. 282; Hambrick v. Russell, 86 Ala. 199; Bolling v. Pace, 99 Ala. 607; Mutual B. & L. Asso. v. Wyeth, 105 Ala. 639.

109 (108). Proceedings when subsequent incumbrancers discovered before confirmation of sale.—If it shall be discovered that there are subsequent incumbrancers, or parties in interest not parties to the cause, at any time before confirmation of the sale in any mortgage suit, the complainant or purchaser shall have liberty to bring them before the court at that stage of the proceedings; and if they make no opposition by answer, their interest may be foreclosed without a resale of the property.

COSTS.

110 (109). Costs, decree as to.—Upon the decision of any interlocutory motion or question, the court or chancellor may impose such portion of the costs of the suit upon either party as to the chancellor may seem proper.

Decree of divorce may not be suspended till costs paid.—Mickle v. State, Ala. (21 So. 66). As to costs in chancery, see citations to section 851 of this Code.

111 (110). Proceedings, if execution for costs returned "no property."—Whenever an execution out of chancery for costs shall be returned "no property," in whole or in part, the register may issue a summons to the party who was not decreed to pay costs, to show cause why he should not be decreed to pay such portion of the costs as were incurred at the instance of such party; and on the return of said summons "executed," or two consecutive summonses "not found," and such party not showing sufficient cause to the contrary, the court may decree that the party pay such portion of the costs as were incurred at his instance, or the court may decree any part of the costs which accrued at the instance of such party to be paid by him.

RECEIVERS.

112 (111). One receiver for same property, though more than one suit.—Where there are more suits than one in which a receiver is required, whether the suits be in the same or different courts or divisions, but one receiver shall be appointed for the same property; and should the receiver be appointed in a suit not entitled to priority, he shall hold the property, funds and proceeds subject to discharge the liens of the parties in their regular order of priority, and the chancellor who may have appointed him shall so decree, and the same shall be so applied.

Extension of receivership to another suit.—Scott v. Ware, 65 Ala. 174; Ala. Nat. Bank v. Mary Lee C. & R. Co., 108 Ala. 288; Mercantile T. & D. Co. v. Water Co., 111 Ala. 119.

113 (112). Order, where there is one receiver and two or more suits.—Where two or more bills are filed in different courts or divisions, and a receiver shall have been appointed in one of them, the complainants in the other suits, on producing a certified copy of the proceedings in their causes to the court where the receiver shall have been appointed, shall be entitled to an order that such receiver hold the property, or the funds and proceeds, to be applied according to the prior liens of the several cases, without regard to the first decree; and in such case the creditors or complainants in the suits in which the receiver was not appointed, if dissatisfied with the receiver appointed in the other suit, may move the court in which the receiver was appointed for his removal, and the appointment of another; and a sufficient cause being shown, the court must remove him and appoint some one else.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

114 (113). Suit at law and in chancery for same claim.—Where a suit at law and a bill in chancery are instituted for the same claim, the opposite party, on suggestion supported by affidavit, may move the court, in term time, or the chancellor, in vacation, to inspect the records; and if it appear that the two suits are for one and the same cause of action, it shall be ordered that the plaintiff or claimant elect in which he will proceed, and that he dismiss the other.

Suits must have same scope and aim; cases in which rule not applicable. Duval v. McLoskey, 1 Ala. 708; Ex parte A. G. L. Ins. Co., 59 Ala. 192; Chapman v. Lee, 64 Ala. 483.

Adopted Feb. 18, 1885.

115 (113a). Sales of personal property.—The chancellor, in term time and in vacation, and the register, in vacation, may order the sale of any personal property in the hands of a receiver, executor, or administrator, over which the chancery court has taken jurisdiction. The application for such sale must be in writing, and, when made before the chancellor, the movant must give ten days' notice of the time and place of hearing to all parties in adverse interest, or their solicitors of record. When such application is to be heard before the register, such register must give the notice required above. From all rulings by the register on such motion, either party may appeal to the chancellor without giving bond; such appeal to be heard at such time as the register may appoint, not less than five days from the decision appealed from; and the costs of the appeal are to be taxed against the unsuccessful party. Sales under such orders shall be governed by the laws applicable to sales of personal property under orders of the probate court, and reports thereof shall be made to the chancery court.

Right of court to sell assigned property.—Louisville Mfg. Co. v. Brown, 101 Ala. 273.

116 (114). Necessary papers laid before chancellor on motions and appeals.—On the hearing of all motions, appeals, and other applications before the chancellor in vacation, certified copies of such of the papers on file as will enable him to decide the matters submitted understandingly, shall be laid before him.

117 (115). Notice, length of.—In all cases where, by the English orders of practice, two days' notice is required, one day shall be deemed sufficient, unless the chancellor shall otherwise direct.

118 (116). Notice, upon whom served.—Service of notice in relation to any supplemental bill, amendment, decree, motion, or other proceeding in the chancery court, on the guardian ad litem or next friend of any party, is a sufficient and valid service as to the party represented by such guardian ad litem or next friend.

119 (117). Computation of time.—In the computation of time under these rules, in the giving of notice and the making of motions and other applications, the day on which the notice is given shall be included, and that on which the motion or other application is to be heard shall be excluded. Where one day's notice shall be required, the motion or application may be heard the next day after the notice is served.
